EAU CLAIRE — Today, Jessi Ebben, Republican Candidate for Wisconsin's Third Congressional District, released the following statement after President Trump signed a new executive order on police reform:

"President Trump's executive order takes critical steps to ensure officers can safely, effectively, and collaboratively police their communities. Our police officers are an important part of our society and deserve our gratitude and respect. Wisconsin is currently leading the way with our law enforcement. We set the bar high and should be looked at as a model for other states throughout the nation. This executive order is a tremendous step forward in improving the system and beginning a new era in the relationship between communities and the police officers that keep them safe."

The executive order will help improve the lives of police officers and the communities they serve by:

- Upholding clear and high policing standards
- Promoting accountability
- Equipping officers for constructive community engagement
- Improving officer equipment and devices
- Directing funds to help social workers respond to specialized situations
