Kenosha – During these difficult and uncertain times, religious beliefs and practices serve as a comfort. However, with “social distancing” being encouraged and mass gatherings being prohibited, people may be wondering how to practice their faith. Many local houses of worship are offering “virtual” services. Below you will find a listing of local online services. It’s possible that other locations are offering online worship services, as well. If you don’t see your house of worship listed here and are looking for a virtual service, your best bet is to call directly.
