

Supreme Court unlikely to issue decision on voter list lawsuit before November election

Posted on Wednesday, Jul 1, 2020

Today's Midday Podcast covers the state Supreme Court declining to fast track a case seeking to force from the rolls thousands of voters who may have moved, making it likely the suit won't be resolved until after the Nov. 3 election.