

Supreme Court upholds lame-duck laws giving Legislature power to intervene in DOJ cases

Posted on Thursday, Jul 9, 2020

Today's Midday podcast covers the state Supreme Court upholding lame-duck laws Republicans approved in December 2018 giving GOP legislators the power to intervene in court actions involving the Department of Justice as well as oversight of settlements the agency reaches.