Wausau, Wis. — Small businessman and state Sen. Tom Tiffany (R-Minocqua) decisively won the 7th Congressional District primary on Tuesday evening, and he'll move on to the general election on Tuesday, May 12.

Tom made this statement after the results were announced:

"This campaign has always been about protecting freedom and opportunity for my family and yours. I'm so thankful for the grassroots volunteers who worked so hard and everyone who voted for me at the polls Tuesday.

"As a small businessman who grew up on my family's dairy farm, I know the challenges that Wisconsin families face. I've signed both sides of a paycheck and will work to bring my business experience to Congress, where Nancy Pelosi and her radical allies need some Wisconsin common sense.

"Now, it's time to rally together and win on Tuesday, May 12. President Trump needs strong reinforcements in Congress who will work to stop socialism and defend freedom. I'm running for Congress to keep America great. We must ensure our children and grandchildren can grow up with the same freedom and opportunity that we did."
