WASHINGTON – During an interview on Fox News' 'Hannity,' U.S. Senator Ron Johnson (R-Wis.) spoke about election integrity and reports Wednesday night that Hunter Biden is under federal investigation for issues surrounding his business dealings in China. Sen. Johnson, along with Senate Finance Committee chairman Sen. Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) issued a report in September that highlighted Hunter Biden's foreign business dealings.

Excerpts from the 'Hannity' interview are below. Video of the interview can be found here.

Hunter Biden

“There have been reports of the Bidens cashing in on the Biden name for many, many years, dating back to when Joe Biden was a senator. But Hunter said he never got a cent? No, he got millions of dollars. Our report documents $5 million. We issued an addendum to our report showing about $6 million was paid into the accounts of Rob Walker, a business he controlled. And of course Rob Walker said he wanted to be a proxy or surrogate to the Biden family. So there's $11 million from China.”

Election integrity

“I've scheduled a hearing for next Wednesday when we're going to examine the irregularities of the 2020 election. Some of these irregularities are being examined by courts and some have been dealt with. ... This is a terrible state of affairs where you have a great percentage of the American public that don't view this election as legitimate because Democrats pushed the envelope. They did everything they could to make this a suspicious result."
