WASHINGTON — U.S. Senator Ron Johnson (R-Wis.), chairman of the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee, today released Department of Justice (DOJ) and Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) records recently provided by DOJ relating to the FBI's Crossfire Hurricane investigation, including the FBI's reports from its interviews with Bruce Ohr, a former DOJ official. This production also included an October 2017 DOJ memo that describes the scope of Special Counsel Robert Mueller's investigation.

“For far too long information regarding the Democrats’ attempt to sabotage the Trump administration has remained hidden from the public,” Chairman Johnson said. “Today, in an effort to be fully transparent, I am releasing these DOJ and FBI documents I recently received because the American people deserve to know the truth and have a right to see this information.”
