MADISON, Wis. - UW Health is proud of how all our staff have responded to this COVID-19 pandemic. Over the next few weeks we will be sharing stories of the people who are on the frontlines in our fight against COVID-19.

Today, we're sharing stories of nurses at UW Health who are caring for patients on the frontline of the COVID-19 crisis. Nurses are key leaders in providing care for COVID-19 positive patients. They are trained and prepared to work in units with these patients and take great pride in providing remarkable patient care in unprecedented circumstances.
