HAGER CITY, WI – Today, Ron Kind is joining Dr. Jill Biden for a virtual roundtable to discuss vocational and technical job training in the district.

As a senior enlisted Navy SEAL, Derrick Van Orden is a lifelong tradesman and knows first hand how important technical and vocational training is for the 3rd District and the nation at large.

Dr. Biden's virtual roundtable shows that Ron Kind and national Democrats understand that the 3rd District is key in 2020. In a key state, it is a district that President Trump won by 4.5% and with a strong challenger like Derrick, Kind's 23 year incumbency is in jeopardy.

Derrick released the following statement in advance on Kind's virtual roundtable:

"If Ron Kind wants to talk about vocational training, he should speak with a lifelong tradesman. I'm ready to debate anytime anywhere. I have agreed to debate virtually on WPR, virtually through UW-La Crosse and their media partners, and at La Crosse Loggers Stadium as a fundraiser for law enforcement. Ron Kind has time for Dr. Jill Biden but does not have time for his constituents including our magnificent law enforcement officers who protect us, including his family, every day."
