Wisconsin Manufacturers and Commerce (WMC) and State Senator Chris Kapenga released the 'Back to Business' plan Friday, an alternative path to safely and responsibly re-open Wisconsin's economy. WILL President and General Counsel Rick Esenberg issued the following statement.

"Wisconsin cannot afford, nor does it need, a one-size-fits-all plan to emerge from the current lockdown. The 'Back to Business' plan provides a data-driven framework for local communities to safely and responsibly re-open while guarding against the emergence of new outbreaks. WMC, Senator Chris Kapenga, and all those who provided input for this proposal deserve great credit for advancing the debate on the shape of Wisconsin's future. The 'Back to Business' plan deserves careful consideration from policymakers."
