Today, the Democratic National Committee is unveiling a new billboard in Waukesha ahead of Pence's visit to Wisconsin this week highlighting how his failed coronavirus response has hurt Wisconsinites.

The billboard, located in Waukesha, will reach voters in the geographical area around Pence's event starting this week. Across Wisconsin, coronavirus cases are spiking and the state has surpassed the grim milestone of over 150,000 infections.

"Voters across Waukesha won't be able to miss this message: Trump and Pence were too incompetent and ineffective to respond to the coronavirus, and their failure has cost too many Wisconsinites their lives and livelihoods," said DNC spokesperson Maddie McComb. "When Pence comes to the Badger state, he'll be greeted by the consequences of his record: spiking COVID-19 infection rates, workers who are struggling to find a good paying job, and Wisconsinites concerned he'll rip away their health care coverage in the middle of a pandemic. The last thing Wisconsin needs is Pence coming to town to try and distract from his broken promises, and Wisconsinites will hold him accountable for his failures this November."
