Meanwhile, as Democrats in Congress remain laser focused on delivering for the American people and getting to the finish line on passing the Build Back Better agenda and the Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal, Republicans continue to do everything in their power to block the president’s popular agenda — while simultaneously trying to take credit for it. This week, state parties continued putting Republicans on defense for their refusal to participate in the pandemic recovery. And now, Republicans are teaming up with corporate lobbyists and special interests to pour tens of millions of dollars into the fight to try and defeat President Biden’s agenda.
