Washington, D.C. - President Biden is traveling to Southwest Wisconsin today with Secretary of Agriculture Tom Vilsack to talk about how his administration's policies affect rural economies.

Statement from NRSC Spokeswoman Lizzie Litzow: "You'll hear a lot of spin from Joe Biden today, but here's the facts: Biden's tax plan would raise taxes on family farms and decimate rural communities. Wisconsin families deserve better than Biden's systemic socialism and the Democrat politicians, like those running for U.S. Senate in Wisconsin, who will blindly rubber stamp a radical, liberal agenda."

A recent poll conducted by the NRSC, shows that voters believe that our country cannot afford the Democrats' massive new spending plan. Republicans like Ron Johnson will continue to fight for common-sense policies in Washington that address the needs of Wisconsinites without putting a massive new burden on future generations.
