ICYMI: Sen. Johnson on Fox News: Democrats' Policies Are Destructive to America

WASHINGTON — On Wednesday, U.S. Sen. Ron Johnson (R-Wis.) joined Fox News' "Hannity" to discuss how President Biden and the Democrats' policies are dangerous and destructive to America.

The full interview can be found here, and excerpts are below.

"What's so bizarre about Democrat policies — for example — in terms of keeping our cities safe, they want to blame the gun but absolve the shooter. They want to pass all this gun control but then they don't enforce it, and even worse, they want to defund the very law enforcement officers that would enforce the law. But the good news is, the vast majority of Americans really do support law enforcement. The bad news is the crazies that don't are currently in charge of the federal government, as well as our major metropolitan areas, so elections matter a lot."

"I prayed that President Biden would actually follow up his inaugural address when he was talking about unifying and healing this nation. He's done the exact opposite. It's really sad. These major cities are going to be dying on the vine. Why would people stick around when their lives aren't secure? When their property's not safe? So, this is a result of Democrat policies and now, unfortunately, Democrats are in control of the federal government and they're taking that exact same destructive approach to all of America as well."
