MADISON — This morning, National Republican Senatorial Committee Chairman Rick Scott released a far-right blueprint plan to guide his party, including Senator Ron Johnson, to victory in November. Among these plans? Throwing working Americans under the bus to protect the big corporations and special interests who support self-serving politicians like Ron Johnson.

“Ron Johnson and his corrupt colleagues would do just about anything to prevent their wealthy donors and big corporations from having to pay their fair share – that includes increasing taxes on working families,” said Maddy McDaniel, communications director for Mandela Barnes for Wisconsin. “This plan is only further proof that self-serving politicians like Ron Johnson will always choose special interests over the interests of middle class Wisconsinites.”
