HALES CORNERS, WI—LuAnn Bird, the Democratic candidate for the 84th Assembly District will be hosting the first in a series of Bird Songs concerts on Friday August 12th from 7-10pm at 5155 Brandons Ct, Hales Corners, WI 53130. Musicians from across southeastern Wisconsin are donating their time and talent to get LuAnn elected. They will participate in spreading LuAnn’s message of restoring political civility.

Musician Chris Porterfield of Field Report said, “My family moved into the 84th in early 2020. When redistricting happened, it became competitive for the first time in decades. This one race can have an outsized impact on Wisconsin. This is why we are putting our energy behind supporting LuAnn Bird. LuAnn is a champion for public schools, disability rights, and reproductive rights. She gets things done and brings people together.”

This first concert will be held in her backyard with the purpose of raising awareness of and funds for her campaign. All are welcome to join. Performances will be made by local artists: Boom Forest, Ellie Jackson, and Field Report.

“We are amplifying hope and civility through music and action. The 84th is flippable. People want to help, sometimes they just need a clear, impactful, way to do it. Bird Songs is about providing that channel” -Chris Porterfield.
