

Dept. of Natural Resources: DNR Now accepting applications For 2023 class of State Conservation Wardens

Posted on Tuesday, Feb 15, 2022

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

MADISON, Wis. – The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is currently accepting applications for the 2023 class of Conservation Wardens through March 6, 2022.

Join the team protecting Wisconsin's natural resources and the people who depend on them. Apply at Wisc.Jobs and search for Job ID: 4757.

DNR conservation wardens are credentialed law enforcement officers stationed statewide, serving rural and urban communities. Wardens enforce laws that protect fish and wildlife, the environment, state parks and forests, and outdoor recreation enthusiasts.

The department will hire approximately a dozen full-time wardens for the upcoming class who will begin training in October 2022. Applicants must:

- Be at least age 21 upon hire; and
- Already have earned or be planning to earn at least 60 college credits within their first five years of being hired.

Conservation wardens also serve as ambassadors and educators, teaching the public about natural resources, outdoor safety and environmental conservation.

The Warden Service offers opportunities to build relationships, protect the state's natural resources, and serve communities in unique and essential ways.

Learn More

Learn more about this remarkable career here. The public can also watch a previously recorded webinar covering the day-to-day work of a conservation warden on the DNR's YouTube channel here.

Apply for a position here.