Today marks the one year anniversary of President Biden doing what Trump and his Republican Congress promised for years but couldn't accomplish – signing a Bipartisan Infrastructure Law that is making once-in-a-generation investments in our nation's roads, bridges, railroads, ports, airports, water systems, and high-speed internet. While Trump and his Republican Congress promised an infrastructure week that never materialized, President Biden and Democrats are delivering an infrastructure decade.

Across the country, local news headlines are touting the critical investments already flowing into communities thanks to the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law:
