

Follow WisPolitics.com's Election Blog for primary election coverage

Posted on Tuesday, Aug 9, 2022

The polls are open across Wisconsin for the fall primary.

The most watched race on the ballot is the fight for the GOP gov nomination, with former Lt. Gov. Rebecca Kleefisch and construction exec Tim Michels leading the polls.

State Rep. Tim Ramthun, of Campbellsport, and Adam Fischer, a small business owner, remain active in the race. Meanwhile, business consultant Kevin Nicholson is still on the ballot after dropping out in early July.

Nine GOP lawmakers, including Assembly Speaker Robin Vos, also face primary challenges today.

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

So does Secretary of State Doug La Follette.

Follow the Election Blog tonight for updates:
<https://www.wispolitics.com/category/election/>

See WisPolitics.com's primary page for an overview of top races:
<https://www.wispolitics.com/2022-partisan-primary-guide/>

Watch the latest ads at Ad Watch:
<https://www.wispolitics.com/category/ad-watch/>