Madison, Wis. — IRG Action Fund CEO CJ Szafer released the following statement after conservative businessman Tim Michels won Tuesday's primary:

"Our team at IRG Action congratulates Tim Michels on his hard-fought victory in Tuesday's primary. Tim has proven to Wisconsin voters that he has the leadership and experience to challenge Tony Ever's tired, big-government policies and prevail in November's election.

"As a job creator, Tim knows what it takes to promote growth and shake up the status quo. That's why IRG Action is excited and stands ready to join him in pushing for tax reforms, expanding education options for students and parents, and enacting reforms that will reshape and shrink the scope of state government.

"A new day in Wisconsin is coming and the comeback begins when we can work on a bold public policy agenda with Tim Michels as our new governor in January 2023. We cannot wait."
