OSHKOSH - U.S. Senator Ron Johnson (R-WI) outlined his accomplishments in a new "Just The Truth" column on his wisfacts.com website today.

"I have a lifetime of achievements both before and during my time as Wisconsin's U.S. Senator," wrote Senator Johnson. "I have documented these accomplishments not to brag and pat myself on the back, but because our nation is in peril, and not allowing Democrats to take over this U.S. Senate seat is crucial."

In the post, Senator Johnson discusses his family, his work in Wisconsin manufacturing, and his legislative achievements such as small business tax cuts and Right to Try. He also talks about his time as the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs and his work with the Joseph Project.
