

RAGA ad ties Kaul to Parole Commission's release of violent offenders

Posted on Friday, Oct 21, 2022

A new Republican Attorneys General Association ad ties Kaul to the release of violent offenders by the state Parole Commission.

The narrator in the spot, run through the RAGA affiliate the Wisconsin Freedom PAC, says Kaul “didn’t even show up” when violent criminals were up for parole and didn’t “fight for the victims.”

“He left an empty chair,” the narrator says.

The narrator adds the Evers administration let hundreds of convicted criminals go free, including more than 200 murders and 44 child rapists.

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

“And Josh Kaul, he walked away, so Wisconsin has to walk away from Josh Kaul,” the narrator says to close the spot.

The Wisconsin Freedom PAC’s latest filing with the state Ethics Commission shows it has spent more than $1.9 million opposing Kaul through TV, digital ads and mail.