Appleton, WI – Following the December 31 campaign finance deadline, State Senator Roger Roth announced that his campaign, Roth for Wisconsin, will report over $400,000 cash-on-hand going into the 2022 election year.

“Republican enthusiasm in Wisconsin is palpable and a red wave is building. As I’ve traveled the state meeting hundreds of patriots, I’ve seen firsthand that the Republican message of lower taxes, jumpstarting our economy and getting our elections in order is a winning one. Moreover, the disastrous policies of the left are driving inflation through the roof, making our communities less safe, and holding our children back. The contrast couldn’t be clearer.”

Roth for Wisconsin’s fundraising efforts represent the contributions of hundreds of grassroots contributors across the state through numerous events and was bolstered by a robust digital and direct mail program.
