Lena Taylor in a new ad for her mayoral campaign says her 18 years of experience in public service prepare her best to be the city's next mayor.

The Dem state senator in the ad says she loves Milwaukee and has worked her entire life to make the city better, but she also recognizes its good and bad qualities.

"I see the pain and the promise of Milwaukee," she said. "And I see a pathway to the city we can become."

Her campaign said the ad will run on multiple media platforms.
