

UW-Green Bay: Political Science faculty will blog about State of the Union address

Posted on Monday, Feb 21, 2022

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

Green Bay, Wis.—A group of University of Wisconsin-Green Bay Political Science faculty plan to offer commentary and analysis on President Joe Biden's upcoming State of the Union (SOTU) address scheduled for March 1, 2022. The group includes professors Nolan Bennett, Alise Coen, David Helpap and Kaden Paulson-Smith. Beginning Tuesday, March 1 and running through Friday, March 4, 2022.

The UW-Green Bay College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences (CAHSS) blog—accessible at <https://cahsseffect.org/>—will feature their perspectives on Biden's address, including some live commentary and post-SOTU analysis.

The faculty members have diverse areas of expertise within political science, ranging from state and local politics issues to global and international affairs.

About the bloggers:

Nolan Bennett, bennett@uwgb.edu (learn more)

Alise Coen, coena@uwgb.edu (learn more)

David Helpap, helpap@uwgb.edu (learn more)

Kaden Paulson-Smith, paulsonk@uwgb.edu (learn more)

About UW-Green Bay Political Science

Political Science involves the study of government, politics and public policy both within the United States and in other settings around the world. The UW-Green Bay Political Science program offers courses in American government and politics, public policy and administration, political theory, comparative politics, and international relations. The faculty in the program are active in scholarly research and publication and are also dedicated to teaching. Learn more at www.uwgb.edu/political-science.

About the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay

Established in 1965, UW-Green Bay is a public institution serving 9,276 undergraduate, graduate and doctoral students and 95,000 continuing education learners each year. We educate students from pre-college through retirement and offer 200+ degrees, programs and certificates. UW-Green Bay graduates are resilient, inclusive, sustaining and engaged members of their communities, ready to rise to fearlessly face challenges, solve problems and embrace diverse ideas and people. With four campus locations, the University welcomes students from every corner of the world. UW-Green Bay is the fastest-growing UW school in Wisconsin. For more information, visit www.uwgb.edu.