“Last Tuesday, the voters of the 63rd Assembly District made their choice, and I am thankful that they once again placed their trust in me.

Mr. Steen recently moved into our district just to run against me. Now that voters have rejected him, he apparently can't take 'no' for an answer. He seems intent on re-litigating the primary election he lost, just like he wants to do with the 2020 election.

I will continue my focus on representing Racine County and fighting for the issues I heard about when I was knocking doors across the district throughout the summer: fighting the inflation brought on by Joe Biden's disastrous policies, combating crime and keeping our communities safe, and improving education and empowering parents.”
