Wisconsin Truth PAC was prepared to spend almost $1.3 million over the last two weeks of the race, according to AdImpact data.

Its new ad, which began last week, features people in bed worrying about various issues. They talk about inflation “eating up all our savings” and home values plummeting, while Biden and Barnes support “a massive tax increase on middle class families.” One says Barnes supports hiring “an army of IRS agents to audit working families.”

“How about Barnes starts worrying about paying his own taxes?” another says.
