

Department of Financial Institutions: Launches new website

Posted on Thursday, Mar 30, 2023

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

MADISON, Wis. – The Wisconsin Department of Financial Institutions \(DFI\) today announced the launch of its new website, dfi.wi.gov, as the go-to source of information for the agency. The new website features a mobile-responsive design and streamlined navigation for faster access to key information, as well as a new look that is cohesive with Wisconsin.gov and other state agency websites. The new website's modern design prominently displays the agency's rope seal and a new dark blue and gold color scheme.

“Our staff worked hard to build this new website over the past two years. We are excited about the improved customer experience the website offers and the new look for our agency,” said DFI Secretary-designee Cheryl Olson-Collins. “The new, redesigned website includes several new features and a scalable design for Wisconsinites using mobile devices and tablets, which improves the usability and accessibility of our website, and demonstrates our commitment to serving the people of Wisconsin.”

The new website features a new homepage design with a search feature for corporate records and new top-level navigation that organizes the agency's services into seven categories, including about the agency, business services, consumer services, educational services, financial institutions, financial services, and securities. Within each of the seven categories, there are up to four specific content areas in a secondary-level navigation where all information for a particular area is found. The specific content areas include:

- About: About the Agency, News & Events
- Business Services: Business Entities, Uniform Commercial Code, Trademarks, Charitable & Professional Organizations

- Consumer Services: Wisconsin Consumer Act, Notary, Apostille, Homeowners' Associations
- Educational Services: College Savings & Career Planning, Personal Finance
- Financial Institutions: Banking & Savings Institutions, Credit Unions
- Financial Services: Licensed Financial Services, Mortgage Banking
- Securities: Registration of Professionals, Filings, Investor Resources

This new navigation makes it easier to find and access key information. Also, the new website leverages a web-based content management system, which gives agency staff the ability to manage and update content immediately without requiring technical web developer resources to do so.

The new website, dfi.wi.gov, was built through a public-private partnership between the State of Wisconsin, the Wisconsin Department of Administration, and Tyler Technologies.

About Tyler Technologies

Tyler Technologies (NYSE: TYL) provides integrated software and technology services to the public sector. Tyler's end-to-end solutions empower local, state, and federal government entities to operate efficiently and transparently with residents and each other. By connecting data and processes across disparate systems, Tyler's solutions transform how clients turn actionable insights into opportunities and solutions for their communities. Tyler has more than 40,000 successful installations across nearly 13,000 locations, with clients in all 50 states, Canada, the Caribbean, Australia, and other international locations. Tyler has been recognized numerous times for growth and innovation, including Government Technology's GovTech 100 list. More information about Tyler Technologies, an S&P 500 company headquartered in Plano, Texas, can be found at tylertech.com.