NEW YORK — Today, Everytown for Gun Safety Action Fund announced a new effort to defeat extremist Daniel Kelly in April's state Supreme Court election in Wisconsin. The effort, backed by a $500,000 investment, includes a television ad that will air in the Madison and Milwaukee media markets. The ad, "Know," highlights the stakes of this April's election and Dan Kelly's dangerous record.

"Dan Kelly wants to make it harder for women to make their own reproductive choices and easier for criminals to get their hands on guns — both of which are terrible for the health and safety of Wisconsinites," said John Feinblatt, president of Everytown for Gun Safety. "With the U.S. Supreme Court having opened the door to the arguments of gun rights extremists, it's more important than ever for us to elect state judges who respect the right to take common-sense steps to prevent gun violence."

You already know Dan Kelly worked for a radical anti-abortion group

And on the court, could uphold Wisconsin's 1849 abortion ban — with no exceptions for rape or incest.

Here's what you didn't know:

Kelly opposed background checks on all gun sales

And even wrote the court decision making it easier for dangerous people to carry guns in public.

Putting our communities at risk.

Dan Kelly is too extreme for our Supreme Court.
