

Group targets Fitzgerald over non-compete agreements

Posted on Tuesday, Mar 14, 2023

A group criticizing members of Congress for supporting employee non-compete contracts launched an ad blasting U.S. Rep. Scott Fitzgerald during Fox News' "Tucker Carlson Tonight."

The Fight Corporate Monopolies group dropped five figures on the 30-second spot slamming the former state senator for wanting "your boss to control where you work, trapping you, and siding with corporations."

Fitzgerald, R-Juneau, is one of four the group is targeting with cable TV ads in their districts for opposing the Workforce Mobility Act, which would designate non-compete agreements an unfair, deceptive trade practice, barring employers from requiring them.

The ad so far only aired Monday night, but a spokesperson for the group told WisPolitics.com it will likely air it again later.

>> WisPolitics is now on the State Affairs network. Get custom keyword notifications, bill tracking and all WisPolitics content. Get the app or access via desktop.

The narrator ends the spot urging him to "stand with Wisconsin workers, not corporate monopolies."

Watch the ad here.