MADISON – Supreme Court candidate Justice Daniel Kelly picks up another important endorsement in his bid for the Supreme Court.

Wisconsin members of the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) announced their endorsement today.

“NFIB is the voice of small business throughout Wisconsin and the nation,” said Justice Kelly. “I am grateful for the support of small and independent business owners around the state who believe in the rule of law and the constitution and want to make sure both are upheld by their justices on the Supreme Court.”

The people of Wisconsin, including independent and small business owners, ask the Supreme Court to do one job — apply the existing law to resolve the cases that come before it. This is the very essence of justice, and Justice Kelly is uniquely qualified to preserve it.
