MILWAUKEE—Today, Judge Janet Protasiewicz announced she's earned the support of Wisconsin Laborers' District Council in her campaign for Wisconsin Supreme Court. Wisconsin Laborers' District Council includes five local unions, representing nearly 9,000 construction craft laborers across the state.

"The working men and women of Wisconsin Laborers' District Council are excited to support Judge Janet Protasiewicz for Supreme Court," said Kent Miller, President and Business Manager for the Wisconsin Laborers' District Council. "She has spent the duration of her long legal career serving the community, protecting working people, and upholding our Constitution and laws. Our members are proud to help elect her to the Wisconsin Supreme Court."

"I am honored to be endorsed by hard-working and dedicated Laborers, who have been vital in maintaining our state's infrastructure and spurring development throughout Wisconsin," said Judge Protasiewicz. "As partners, we will work together to win this election and make certain justice and the law are upheld by the Supreme Court."

Judge Janet Protasiewicz is a community leader, a judge who upholds the law, and a former prosecutor who dedicated her career to protecting victims.
