MADISON – After kicking off the Internet for All Wisconsin Listening Tour and hosting events in Menomonie, Hayward, Rhinelander, and Milwaukee, the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin (PSC) today is encouraging Wisconsinites to register for the remaining stops of the statewide tour.

Governor Tony Evers and the PSC announced the Listening Tour on April 28th to gather public input to help develop the state's five-year action plan to deploy high-speed internet and improve internet affordability and adoption under the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law's 'Internet for All' programs.

A PSC Commissioner and Wisconsin Broadband Office staff attend each of these sessions to receive input from the public, local officials, and business leaders about the hundreds of millions of dollars of broadband funding coming to the state over the next five years. Community leaders and all interested members of the public are welcome to attend this free event. Prospective attendees are advised to visit the event website for additional event information.

“The Commission has already gained valuable insight into the broadband access needs and priorities from participants during the first four stops of the Internet for All Wisconsin Listening Tour, but we need to hear from Wisconsinites in all corners of the state,” said PSC Chairperson Rebecca Cameron Valcq. “The remaining stops on this tour will help us ensure all communities are represented in our work to improve access to affordable, reliable, high-speed internet.”

The Internet for All Wisconsin Listening Tour is hosted by the PSC's Wisconsin Broadband Office, in partnership with Wisconsin's regional economic development organizations. If someone is unable to attend an in-person or virtual meeting, they may still submit public comment here.
