Madison, WI – Rep. Treig E. Pronschinske released the following statement succeeding the passage of Senate Bill 70:

“I am honored to vote yes on Senate Bill 70 and move it to Governor Evers’ desk to hopefully be signed. It is a historic day in Wisconsin history. In spite of partisan games waged by the Democrats, every member of the Wisconsin State Assembly and Senate should be proud of the collaborative effort it took to get this bill across the finish line. It is now up to Governor Evers to sign a bill that truly moves Wisconsin forward.

“Senate Bill 70 creates the largest tax cut in the 175 year history of Wisconsin. This bill also creates new housing options for all Wisconsinites, grants generational funding towards education, increases wages for our correctional officers, and does so much more for every citizen of this great state. This consequential moment in state history will positively shape our future for many bright years to come.”
