WASHINGTON, DC - Today, Congressman Bryan Steil (WI-01) released the following statement on President Biden's visit to Wisconsin.

"Workers across the country have seen their real pay fall by 1.7% over the past year. Labor force participation remains well below pandemic levels. As Biden touts creating jobs in Wisconsin today - I hope he remembers the union workers in Wisconsin he laid off after canceling the Keystone XL Pipeline. From his war on energy to excessive spending, Biden's policies have hurt workers. When the President returns to Washington, I encourage him to engage with Congress to truly help workers."
