Madison, WI – Today, State Senator Dianne Hesselbein (D-Middleton) and State Representative Mike Bare (D-Verona) announced that they will be hosting three listening sessions. These listening sessions will be an opportunity for constituents to share their thoughts about the 2023-2025 biennial state budget introduced by Governor Evers on Wednesday, February 15th.

“I believe it is important to hear directly from the people I serve. I am excited to announce three listening sessions where constituents can voice their concerns and ideas directly to their elected officials,” said Senator Hesselbein. “I look forward to speaking to the people in my district and working together to build a better Wisconsin.”

“As your Representative, I am committed to being accessible and responsive,” said Representative Bare. “Listening sessions are a key part of that effort. The upcoming sessions will allow us to come together to hear about the specific challenges facing our communities. I encourage all constituents to attend and share their thoughts.”
