WASHINGTON, DC - Today, Congressman Bryan Steil (WI-01) released the following statement on President Biden's State of the Union Address.

"In the last two years, our country has seen higher costs and higher crime rates. The cost to heat your home, buy groceries and fill up at gas stations remains too high. Fentanyl continues to devastate our communities. We need to get control of wasteful spending, support our law enforcement, and address the concerns of the American people. I'm disappointed that tonight I did not hear a realistic plan to address these pressing issues impacting Americans every day."
