GERMANTOWN — Assistant District Attorney and conservative judicial candidate Grant Scaife today announced the endorsements of Supreme Court Candidate Judge Maria Lazar and Court of Appeals candidate Anthony LoCoco in his campaign for Washington County Circuit Court Judge, Branch 2.

“Grant’s proven record of protecting families and upholding the Constitution make him the clear choice for Washington County Circuit Court judge this April,” LoCoco said. “I am thrilled to be able to support him and encourage voters to do the same.”

“I am deeply honored and grateful to receive the endorsements of Judge Maria Lazar and Anthony LoCoco,” said Grant Scaife. “Their support means a great deal, and I appreciate their confidence in my ability to serve the people of Washington County as a judge who will apply the law impartially, protect our communities, and uphold the values that make our state strong.”

Scaife, a Washington County Assistant District Attorney, brings extensive courtroom experience prosecuting serious crimes, working closely with law enforcement, and advocating for victims. His campaign emphasizes a tough-on-crime approach, judicial restraint, and a commitment to public safety.

The Washington County Circuit Court Judge election is scheduled for April 7, 2026.
