Alderman Stamper to welcome Global Intergenerational Conference

Alderman Russell W. Stamper, II will deliver welcoming remarks to the attendees of the Global Intergenerational Conference tomorrow, Thursday, June 15, at the Hyatt Regency Milwaukee, 333 W. Kilbourn Ave. The conference (June 13-16) is co-hosted by Generations United and St. Ann Center for Intergenerational Care, and is the 19th such conference, hosting 280 attendees representing 12 countries in all.

Alderman Stamper will deliver his remarks at about 8:30 a.m. Thursday. “It will be an honor for me to welcome the attendees from around the globe to Milwaukee, and I wish them all the success at the Global Intergenerational Conference,” Alderman Stamper said.

A main sponsor and co-host for the conference, the St. Ann Center for Intergenerational Care, is headquartered in Alderman Stamper’s 15th District.

The theme for this year’s conference is “Generations Remixed,” with the goal of spreading the word and sharing information on different policies and programs. Events on Thursday include a Midwest Showcase featuring several dance and art presentations, the keynote address by Emmy winning film maker Tod Lending, a Generations United Awards Luncheon, and a performance by the Wisconsin Intergenerational Orchestra. A creative expressions seminar, as well as a networking lunch will occur on Friday, June 16.
