Fox Cities Chamber Introduces Executive Roundtables

New program will provide like-minded executives with a confidential network to share perspectives

APPLETON, Wis. (February 15, 2018) – The Fox Cities Chamber is excited to announce the launch of its newest program, Executive Roundtables. The program will provide business leaders across the Fox Cities Region the opportunity to create a confidential and professional network of like-minded peers who share a desire to overcome challenges and a willingness to share best practices.

Applications for the Executive Roundtables program are available online at <http://bit.ly/FCCroundtable>. These Roundtables will act as an advisory forum, providing a confidential environment for discussion of critical business issues, experience-sharing and problem solving. Groups will be professionally-facilitated and consist of eight to twelve executives from non-competing industries with no competing interests. Cheryl Good, President of Performance Solutions & Consulting, Incorporated and Patrick Minsky, Financial Advisor from Edward Jones, will facilitate the program and provide guidance to the discussions.

The Roundtable groups are comprised of business owners and c-suite decision makers from diverse industries to provide participants with the unique opportunity to hear ideas and suggestions from different perspectives. A one-year commitment is requested for participants and monthly topics will be discussed by the group. It is requested that each participant have a business case available for the program discussion.

Executive Roundtable applications are open now through April 15, 2018. Applications will be reviewed and the group will be selected in May 2018. A program orientation will occur in June, followed by the program's kick-off in August which will culminate in June 2019.

“Our recent survey indicated a need for executive-level programming to allow participants the opportunity to improve their companies and share solutions. This professionally-facilitated Executive Roundtable program will provide CEO's and executives from our member businesses a confidential platform with peers to discuss and solve business challenges that help participants manage and grow their business,” shared Bob Mundt, Fox Cities Chamber President/CEO.
