Senator Taylor Questions Well-being of Immigrant Children

(MADISON) – This evening Senator Taylor (D-Milwaukee) contacted Wisconsin’s Department of Children and Families (DCF) with some questions regarding the news that 2,300 immigrant children, separated from their families by the Trump administration, are being detained in 17 different states.

Senator Taylor released the following statement regarding her concerns for the children that have been separated from their families:

“I’m deeply concerned that some of these children who have been dragged away from their loved ones may have been detained in our state. I’ve reached out to DCF tonight to first, see if we have any of these children, second, understand where they are being held, and finally, to make sure that we have specific information about their parents so that we can reunite them as quickly and efficiently as possible.”
