WI Builders Give Bewley 2018 “Friend of Housing” Award

MADISON – State Senator Janet Bewley (D-Delta) received the 2018 “Friend of Housing” award from the Wisconsin Builders Association (WBA) in Madison last week. This award marks the third consecutive session that Senator Bewley has been honored by the WBA for her work to promote policies and legislation that help Wisconsin families with housing.

“One of the most pressing issues facing Wisconsin families across the state is finding affordable housing,” said Senator Bewley after receiving the inscribed saw blade award. “I am proud to work with the WBA, which plays such a vital role in fostering policies to ensure access to quality affordable housing.”

“I appreciate the efforts of the housing industry professionals at WBA to promote affordable, innovative, and environmentally conscious homes accessible to all.” Senator Bewley said. “Everyone benefits when we work together to ensure a stable housing market.”

Gathering in Madison, small business owners and workers in the building trades and industry come together for the WBA Business Day every two years. The gathering is an opportunity for the Association’s more than 4000 members to meet with legislators and highlight issues important to the industry.
