Dane County Executive Joe Parisi & Dane County Parks Foundation President Bill Lunney
Announce First Ever Dane County Parks Endowment Grants

11 Nonprofit Organizations Receive Grants to Support Conservation Activities on Public Land

Today, Dane County Executive Joe Parisi and Foundation for Dane County Parks President Bill Lunney announced the first ever recipients of the Friends of Dane County Parks Endowment. The grants were awarded to 11 local nonprofit conservation organizations and total $17,284. The funds will be used to help provide educational programming, interpretation, and enhance volunteerism in local parks.

“Congratulations to all of those who are receiving the first grants from the Dane County Parks Endowment Fund,” said Dane County Executive Joe Parisi. “Dane County is proud to have a robust parks system, and we are happy to make these investments in the community so our outdoor recreation destinations can continue to thrive for many years to come.”

“We are ecstatic to be able to use the endowment built by our generous donors to provide grants to improve the Parks and help build the County Parks over 3000 person volunteer base,” said Foundation President Bill Lunney. “Our Foundation’s commitment to volunteerism, education, interpretation, in the Parks helps create a backbone of continuing support for our extraordinary Park system.”

The 11 conservation organizations, many of which are Parks Friends groups, received a total of $17,284 to support their efforts in their County Park or Natural Resource Area. In many cases, the grant will be matched by the organization to leverage the impact. The grant funds come from the Foundation for Dane County Parks through an endowment held by the Madison Community Foundation for the purpose of supporting special projects and programs, educational opportunities, interpretation, and volunteerism to a growing and diverse population.
