Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This resolution makes the following changes to the assembly rules:

Appearance at committee meetings by telephone or other means of telecommunication or electronic communication

The resolution amends the assembly rules to allow a standing committee chairperson during any biennial session to permit a member to participate in committee meetings by telephone or by other means of telecommunication or electronic communication, and be considered present for all purposes, including voting, if several things occur. First, the member must have contacted the legislature's human resources office in that biennial session and presented to the office written documentation that demonstrates the member has a permanent disability and is unable to attend committee meetings on a regular basis. Second, the human resources office certifies in writing that the member has a permanent disability and is unable to attend committee meetings on a regular basis and provides a written copy of the certification to the speaker and minority leader. Third, the speaker and minority leader authorize the member to participate in committee meetings during the biennial session by telephone or by other means of telecommunication or electronic communication, and be considered present for all purposes, including voting. Fourth, the member must have made a request to the chairperson at least two hours before the committee meeting.

Establishing time limits for debate

Current assembly rules require the majority leader and the minority leader to meet to adopt reasonable recommendations for time limits and schedules for floor debate. If the majority leader and the minority leader reach agreement, the Committee on Rules must include the time limits and schedules for floor debate in the recommendations on the calendar for that day.

The resolution amends the assembly rules to require the majority leader and the minority leader to meet to adopt reasonable recommendations for time limits and schedules for floor debate for each proposal on the daily calendar. If the majority leader and the minority leader reach agreement, the Committee on Rules must include the time limits and schedules for floor debate for each proposal in the recommendations on the calendar for that day.

The resolution further provides that if the majority leader and the minority leader do not reach agreement, the Committee on Rules must establish time limits and schedules for floor debate for each proposal in the recommendations on the calendar for that day.

Dilatory motions

Current assembly rules provide that when it appears to the presiding officer that any motion or procedure is being used for the purpose of delay, the presiding officer must declare it dilatory and out of order. The resolution amends the rules to include specifically a motion to recess for purposes of a partisan caucus as one of the covered motions or procedures.

Call of the assembly

Current assembly rules permit any member who obtains the floor to request a call of the assembly to require absent members to return to the assembly chamber. Any such request requires 15 members to second the call. The resolution permits the presiding officer to order a call of the assembly, without any seconds.

Orders of business

The resolution amends the assembly rules to renumber and move the 8th Order of Business after the 13th Order of Business on the daily calendar. The 8th Order of Business deals with consideration of resolutions. The resolution further provides that any resolution that would otherwise be considered under the renumbered 8th

Order of Business, which is the new 13th Order of Business, may be taken up at any time during the floor day by motion. Any such motion is nondebateable.

Withdrawing proposals from committee

Current assembly rules provide that a motion to withdraw a proposal from committee is in order only on the first day in any week on which the call of the roll is taken under the 1st Order of Business. Also, currently, motions to suspend the rules to withdraw a proposal from committee and take it up on the floor may be made during the current 13th Order of Business.

The resolution provides that motions to withdraw a proposal from committee, including unanimous consent requests or motions to suspend the rules to withdraw a proposal from committee, are in order only during the new 12th Order of Business.

Motion to return a proposal to second reading stage

The resolution amends the assembly rules to provide that a motion may be made while a proposal is under consideration to return the proposal to the second reading stage. Any such motion is nondebateable and must be decided by a vote of a majority of members present and voting.

Determination of legislative day for purposes of referral of proposals to calendar

Currently, the speaker may withdraw a proposal from a standing committee and rerefer it to another standing committee or to a special committee or refer it to the calendar for the second legislative day thereafter. To do this, the speaker must have the approval of the committee chairperson.

The resolution amends the assembly rules to provide that for purposes of determining "the second legislative day thereafter," the Monday before a scheduled floor period shall be counted as the first legislative day.

Reconsideration of assembly decisions on vetoes

Currently, assembly decisions on vetoes are not subject to reconsideration. The resolution amends the assembly rules to provide that assembly decisions on vetoes of proposals that failed to pass notwithstanding the objections of the governor are subject to reconsideration at any time and any number of times during the legislative biennium.

Definition of assembly chamber

The resolution amends the assembly rules to exclude the offices of the majority leader from the definition of assembly chamber.
