Wisconsin Towns Association Statement on Proposed Flooding Legislation

Yesterday, Governor Evers announced a package of bills intended to address flooding in Wisconsin. Mike Koles, Executive Director of the Wisconsin Towns Association, provided the following statement.

“In recent years, towns throughout Wisconsin have been subjected to multiple flooding incidents that have destroyed public infrastructure and private property. The package of bills would provide approximately $38.8 million to begin to more effectively address flood prevention, mitigation, and recovery. This is a promising start to what we hope to be a robust discussion on how state and local government can adapt to the unique weather patterns that have been impacting Wisconsin. In the coming weeks, we will be working with towns to prepare for any upcoming collaboration between the legislature, administration, and local government officials targeted toward effectively addressing this issue.”
