Greta Neubauer Announces Reelection Campaign

RACINE — Today, Greta Neubauer announced the official start of her campaign for reelection to Wisconsin’s 66th Assembly District. Neubauer released the following statement on the launch of her reelection campaign:

“Since 2018, I have had the honor of serving as Racine’s Representative in the Assembly. I am running for reelection because we still have work to do in making Wisconsin a better place for all of us.

“Over the last two years, I have fought for Racine’s priorities in Madison. I led a statewide push to increase access to affordable healthcare and supported programs to reduce racial disparities in our health system. I fought to increase education funding and authored bills to create more jobs that can support Wisconsin’s families. I’ve advocated for necessary criminal justice reforms and authored legislation to invest in our democracy. I have been a leading voice in the fight against climate change.

“It’s been a privilege to work with members of the Racine community on policies that reflect our values, but our work isn’t done yet. The legacy of Scott Walker and his billionaire backers still lingers in Wisconsin. Legislative Republicans have done everything in their power to prevent real change from coming to our state.

“We need strong leadership to stand up to the powerful special interests that are working to corrupt our democracy and maintain the status quo. We need leaders who fight for us. I’ve been proud to stand up for my community in Racine, and with your help, I hope to continue this work next year.”
