Senator Patty Schachtner Launches Re-election Campaign

SOMERSET – Senator Patty Schachtner has officially launched her re-election campaign to continue to serve the 10th State Senate district of Wisconsin.

“I have been so grateful to see the outpouring of support for our campaign so far. Almost 2,000 people signed our nomination papers, hundreds have donated, and many are already volunteering,” said Senator Schachtner.

Senator Schachtner has represented Northwestern Wisconsin in the Wisconsin State Senate since 2018 and previously served as a town supervisor and school board member. She has also served as St. Croix County’s Chief Medical Examiner for almost 10 years. Senator Schachtner has experience working as a healthcare provider, running a small business, and managing a Chamber of Commerce.

“I think it’s clear that during these times of uncertainty, people are looking for steady leadership that will protect their healthcare access, fight for rural communities, and support our state through this public health emergency,” said Senator Schachtner. “I have a proven record of service and the experience to continue to represent our district well.”
