Glenn Grothman Releases Second TV Ad: “Independent”

(Fond du Lac, WI) – Today, Congressman Glenn Grothman released his second TV ad, “Independent,” in the Milwaukee and Green Bay markets.

The ad focuses on Grothman’s record of being an independent representative in Congress including his bi-partisan efforts to allow refinancing of student loans and his willingness to stand up to Republican leaders who sought to eliminate the medical tax deduction. Grothman also highlights the fact that he does not accept donations from drug companies, Goldman Sachs, payday lenders, and others who try to take advantage of the less fortunate.

“The people of the Sixth Congressional District deserve to know that the only special interest I care about is them. I will continue to stand up for the less fortunate - no matter what party tries to stop me,” said Grothman.

Transcript of “Independent” is below:

You ever wonder why you never see those horrible dark money ads for my campaign?

It’s because I don’t take money from Goldman Sachs, the drug companies, the payday lenders, or other groups trying to take advantage of the less fortunate.

I’m crossing party lines to allow refinancing of student loans and standing up to Republican leadership when they try and get rid of the medical deduction,

Because I don’t care what the Washington crowd thinks about me;

The only special interest I care about, is you.

I’m Glenn Grothman and I approve this message.
