Rep. Vos on Veto Override Attempt of Workforce Recovery Bill

Madison... The bill Representative Robin Vos (R-Rochester) co-authored to help address the current worker shortage in Wisconsin passed in both houses but failed to become law via the governor's veto. The legislature used its authority by convening for a veto override. Speaker Vos released the following statement.

"The labor crisis has reached every corner of our state. Yet Democrats have the gall to tell employers there's no supporting data and that the worker crisis is fake.

"The governor has finally acknowledged it but thinks more government will solve the issue. We already have programs in place to help people find jobs, what we need is to get people off the couch and go back to work, and we do that by removing the weekly federal bonus check.

"I had hoped my Democratic colleagues would put politics aside to fix an actual issue affecting employers across the state, but it seems they'll stick to their marching orders no matter the cost."
