APPLETON, WI - As first reported by Wisconsin Right Now (WRN), candidate for Wisconsin's 8th Congressional District, Roger Roth has raised an impressive $380,000 in just the first weeks of announcing his campaign.

"I am humbled by the overwhelming support I am receiving from across the district. All across Northeast Wisconsin, voters are joining our team and investing in the fight. We are just getting started, but our coalition is growing every day," Roth said in a statement to WRN.

"I took an oath when I joined the military 20 years ago to serve and protect this country. I view this mission through that same lens. I believe America is the greatest country in the history of the world, but we must protect it," he added. "If we want to save America, we must tackle our challenges head on. We must secure the border, end Biden's reckless spending, and keep America safe by bringing our foreign adversaries to their knees. We cannot hesitate and make excuses."

In addition to securing this significant show of support from Northeast Wisconsin, Roth has been out personally meeting with voters unphased by rain, sleet, or snow.

"Roth had a presence at the Trump rally in Green Bay on April 2. In addition to signs, he was spotted walking down the very long line of people waiting to get into the rally in the sleet and was spotted shaking hands all the way down the line, which snaked over a bridge," the article highlighted.

Roger Roth is a Captain in the Wisconsin Air National Guard, a third-generation homebuilder in Northeast Wisconsin, and proven conservative candidate running for Wisconsin's 8th Congressional District.
